A BIG DANCE OF FOREIGNERS ENDS IN FIGHT AND SHOOTING.

Butch Pollock of Vanderbilt Punctured in the Hand and Groin in an Encounter in New Haven.

A FIERCE ROW IN STREETS.

Trouble Started at the Slavish Hall Where a Large Crowd of Foreigners Were Assembled and Spread Out Over New Haven—One Arrested.

A fierce fight between foreigners occurred in New Haven this morning about four o'clock, in which "Butch" Pollock, a beer agent of Vanderbilt, was wounded in the groin and in the hand. Only one of the participants, Mike Royal, was locked up and he was captured after a chase of the officers. Officer John Lowe finally rounding him up in Connellsville.

The trouble started in the Slavish hall and spread from there down Main street as far as the New Haven National bank. There were many fights all this distance between the two factions and witnesses say that a number of the foreigners were knocked down and severely beaten. Officer Joseph O'Bryon was off duty at the time, his time being up about 3 o'clock, and there were no police about. Several calls were sent to Connellsville and Officer Lowe responded. This was some time after the fighting and the participants in the fracas had spread out over town. The foreigners saw the officer on his way and scattered in all directions.

Royal was seen to strike a man down in front of the New Haven National bank and run. After chasing him about in New Haven he was finally driven to Connellsville, where he was captured. All the balance of the fighters escaped.

Pollock's injuries were not serious. He waited about New Haven until the first car left for Vanderbilt and went to his home this morning. The officers have the names of a number of men engaged in the riot and warrants will be served upon them today.

A charge of carrying concealed weapons has been made against Royal, a pair of steel knuckles having been found upon his person.

ANNUAL INSPECTION

Of Company D Will be Held in the New Armory February 27—Brigade Inspection in March.

Captain J. H. Simpson, of Company D, N. G. P., has issued an order for the annual inspection of the company which will be held Thursday evening, February 27. The inspection by the Brigade Inspector and Regular Army Inspector will be held Wednesday, evening, March 18.

The inspections will be held in the New Armory as it is expected that it will be completed by that time. Every member of the company must be present, absentees being subject to court martial and severe punishment.

Captain Simpson calls attention to the fact that drills during the past winter have been held under difficulties owing to the limited room of the present quarters. Owing to this some especially hard work will have to be done by the members of the company to be in first class condition for the inspection. About 15 men are needed to have the company reach the full strength of the company.

The following appointments of non-commissioned officers is announced: Private Arthur M. Clemmons, to be a Corporal; Private Byrnes McFarland, to be a Corporal; Private David F. Nee, to be an artificer.

BUYS HOTEL.

John D. Cunningham Leaves Railroad to Become Landlord at Confluence.

By a deal closed yesterday John D. Cunningham, a well known and popular Baltimore & Ohio railroad man, becomes proprietor of the Hotel Gilchrist at Confluence, one of the neatest little hostelries in Somerset county. Mr. Cunningham only purchased the lease and fixtures. The Gilchrist in the past two years has been entirely remodeled and is handsomely furnished for a country hotel.

Mr. Cunningham is an engineer well up in the service of the B. & O., with an excellent record. He will shortly move from a pretty home on Green street, South Side, to take charge of the Gilchrist.

Mrs. Baisley's Condition.

Mrs. J. R. Baisley, who has been seriously ill at her home on First street, New Haven, for the past several days, is recovering as rapidly as can be expected, and she is now thought to be out of danger.

ABRAHAM FRANKS DEAD.

Franklin Township Man Had Been Ailing for Some Months.

PERRYOPOLIS, Jan. 29.—Abraham Franks, a well known resident of this township, who made his home with Jacob Kepps, died last night after an illness of several months. His death was sudden. While he had been ill for some time his condition had not been considered serious. Mr Franks leaves a family of six grown children. He was about 63 years of age.

The funeral will be held from his late home tomorrow at 2 o'clock.

LARGE FUNERAL.

Impressive Services at Catholic Church for Late Mrs. Jennie Lang Soisson this Morning.

Requiem high mass was celebrated this morning at 9 o'clock at the Immaculate Conception church over the remains of the late Mrs. Jennie Lang Soisson, wife of William F. Soisson. Rev Father John T. Burns, assisted by his assistant, Rev. Father Quilter and Rev. Father Denger, the latter of Scottdale, were the celebrants. The funeral was one of the largest held here for some time. The church was filled with relatives and friends of the deceased who had assembled to pay their last respects to the deceased. The floral tributes were numerous and very handsome. The pallbearers were P. J. Ralston, P. J. Harrigan, W. H. Soisson, J. M. Doyle, John Duggan, J. J. Driscoll, James R. Cray, and P. J. Locke, the latter of Uniontown. Interment in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Among the out of town persons who attended the services were Mrs. John Gilligan and Mrs. F. J. Studer of Latrobe, Mr. and Mrs. William Clydesdale of Pittsburg, Mrs. James R. Gray and Mrs. P. J. Locke of Uniontown, Miss Margaret Doonan of Dunbar, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lang, Jr., of Buckhannon, W. Va., Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lang of Lynn station and William Lang of Vandergrift.

PECULIAR INJURY.

Knife Slipped While Caleb Grimes Was Whittling and He Stabbed Himself Near Heart.

WAYNESBURG, Jan 29.—A very peculiar accident befell Caleb Grimes aged 21 years, of Lippincott, a few days ago. Young Grimes had gone to the blacksmith shop of William Cowell and, having a very sharp pen knife, was demonstrating its qualities on a whittable piece of wood. One end of the stick was held in the left hand while the other end pressed against his left breast. The stick slipped from his hand, letting the knife go with considerable force against his body. The keen blade penetrated the breast over the heart, making a dangerous wound. The young man fell unconscious from where he was sitting while blood gushed from the wound.

Dr. Sharpnack of Jefferson was at once called and gave the injured man all possible assistance. He suffers much pain and is in a very serious condition. The point of the blade nearly touched the heart. It cannot be stated how serious the injury is until later.

BEAT HIS WIFE.

Joe Balinki Choked Her and Then Kicked Her Into the Street, But She Wanted His Release.

Joe Balinki, a miner employed at Davidson, went on a rampage last night and severely beat his wife and injured her arm so badly that she is unable to use it, but she was at the police station early this morning with funds to secure his release. Balinki came home last night for supper about 9 o'clock in a very bad humor. He charged his wife with some one having been in the house and when she denied it he choked and beat her, then kicked her out into the street. Several foreigners interfered with him and marched him to the police station, where he spent the night. This morning he promised his injured wife that he wouldn't fight any more.

Owing to Burgess Soisson attending a funeral the trial of prisoners was postponed and no disposition was made of the case.

$80,000 FOR THE FEDERAL BUILDING.

Congressman A. F. Cooper Today Introduced Bill in House for Balance of Purchase Price for Site and Erection of New Postoffice in Connellsville.

United Press Telegram.

WASHINGTON D. C., Jan. 29.—Congressman Allen F. Cooper of the 23rd District today introduced a bill appropriating $80,000 for the purpose of completing the purchase of a site and to erect a federal building at Connellsville.

This make the second appropriation bill for Connellsville. The first bill introduced by Congressman Cooper and passed at the last session of Congress was for $20,000. The $80,000 additional, it is believed by Congressman Cooper, will take care of all expenses in connection with the purchase of a site and the erection of the building.

The proposed site of the postoffice building the Wallace and Newmyer lots on Arch street has been viewed and a price of $26,000 placed upon it. No appeals have been taken from the award as yet. The would leave $74,000 for the erection of a building and the general impression of business men who have been consulted at Connellsville is that a very substantial and handsome building can be erected for this amount.

Of the $80,000 appropriation which is provided for in the bill introduced by Congressman Cooper today $10,000 is to be added to the original site fund of $20,000 already available and making it $30,000. The balance, or $70,000, would be for the erection of the building, or as much of it as would be needed.

GRAFT CASE TRIAL TESTIMONY TODAY.

Huston's Partner the First Witness on Stand This Morning.

HUSTON'S BROTHER FOLLOWED.

Told of Visit of Contractor Sanderson to His Office and Filling Out of Certificate on Item No. 22—Adjournment Taken.

United Press Telegram.

HARRISBURG, Jan 29.—That Architect Huston will be called as a witness in the capital graft cases by the Commonwealth was admitted today. A subpoena was served on the architect this morning and it is expected that he will be summoned to the stand this afternoon. Standford B. Lewis, Huston's partner, was the first witness called. He identified the signature of a letter written by the latter to Contractor Sanderson informing him that plans for the furniture for the new capitol building had been approved in accordance with the plans.

Then he was excused. After other witnesses testified Huston's brother was called to the stand. He said he held a certain position in the office since 1892. He said his brother had made a trip to Europe in 1906 and during his absence he left a number of blank certificates. While his brother was away he said Sanderson came to the office on business. He was shown some exhibits and at last admitted he had seen them, too.

Sanderson brought him the bill for the furniture. With the bill was an affidavit certifying to its correctness. "Sanderson told me that he would like to have the certificate filled out. I told him that my brother was away. He said that the Auditor General and the Superintendent of Grounds and Buildings would approve it." The witness said he filled out a certificate which showed that the contractor was entitled to $5,515.61 on item No. 22. He said he got the number from the face of the bill. The certificate was offered in evidence. Returned objected but was overruled and the exception granted. Court then adjourned.

PARIS, Jan. 29.—(Special.)—The Hart McKee divorce trial has been postponed for four weeks.

PECULIAR ACCIDENT.

Blast Along Baltimore & Ohio Affect Electric Power and Light in Many Towns.

A peculiar accident at the power house of the West Penn Railways Company yesterday afternoon interrupted car service on the West Penn lines for half an hour and knocked the lighting and power circuits out of commission for more than two hours. The effect of the accidents was felt as far as California, Pa., and every town from Connellsville south was affected while points in Westmoreland county were also inconvenienced.

The accident happened about 1:30 o'clock. General Manager George K. Folds, Superintendent of Lighting Conklin and Engineer Lawrence were just about to make a visit to the power house when they were stopped by an Italian who was firing a blast along the new construction of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. The blast was a powerful one and when it exploded it threw an immense pile of rock and dirt high into the air. The mass landed on the high tension wires and brought them crashing down upon the trolley circuit, and the instant that they touched did the damage. Every rotary converter in the sub stations was burned out by the sudden and powerful current generated from the high tension wire. The substations were quickly repaired and traffic only interrupted half an hour, but the lighting and required much longer. The blast cut off ten Baltimore & Ohio telegraph wires. The damage to the machinery by the accident was not great, but the serious delay caused considerable annoyance in many towns.

DR. JOHNSTON DEAD.

Life Passed Out In Hospital Where He Had Charge for More Than 20 Years.

Col J. M. Reid received a message today from Butte, Montana, announcing the death yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock of Dr. J. Clark Johnston, a brother of Mrs. Reid. Dr. Johnston had been ill for more than a week. Alex Johnston, a brother, has telegraphed several times that his brother was suffering from an abcess and the family supposed that he was afflicted with a carbuncle.

Dr. Johnston was a son of the late Alex Johnston, a brother, is 65 years old. He went West many years ago and had medical charge of the hospital at Butte, Mont., for more than 20 years. He was a large man of robust health and his genial kindly way endeared him to the Sisters in charge of the hospital.

Dr. Johnston was never married and is survived by two sisters, Mrs. J. M. Reid of Connellsville, Mrs. Frank Huston of Uniontown, and Alex Johnston, a brother, who has been residing for many years in the West. The latter left today with the remains for Connellsville and will arrive here Saturday morning. Arrangements for the funeral services here on the arrival of the body have not been completed.

WEST PENN WORK.

New Electric Lines Down the Yough Are Being Rushed.

The West Penn Electric Company, which held off quite a number of men last fall after the business depression set in has again resumed construction work with a full force. The company anticipated that business conditions would be such that the receipts of the company would fall off materially, but in this they were agreeably disappointed. There seemed to be no falling off. On the other hand, business showed a tendency to increase, and the company at once restored their working force in full.

At present work is being pushed on the erection of the line between Elizabeth and Boston, on the Youghiogheny which when completed, will give the company a complete circuit, connecting up the towns in southwestern Pennsylvania in which the company gives service.

Freight Picking Up.

Freight traffic on the B. & O. has been picking up during the past week.

$5,000 DEMANDED BY BLACK HAND.

Alphonse Basalone Directed to Carry Amount With Him for a Week.

SOME ONE WOULD CALL FOR IT.

Mike Rulli Received a Black Hand Letter Last Night But Does Not Take It Seriously—Many Are Circulated About Uniontown.

Black Hand letters have been distributed promiscuously among wealthy Italians and those in moderate circumstances during the past few days. Alphonse Basalone, a confectioner in the Casino Block, M. Rulli, of Rulli Brothers of New Haven, and Raimondi Gillardi, the contractor, have all received letters asking that large sums be placed in certain places, within a prescribed time under pain of death.

Basalone was given one week in which to produce $5,000 and his time expired today. The letter directed that he secure $5,000 and carry it with him all the time. The letter stated that within a period of a week some one would accost him and to that party he should turn over the money.

Basalone hasn't carried the money because he don't have that much money he says, for one thing, and for another thing, he didn't know where to get it. He isn't a bit afraid of anyone taking his life and has made no preparation for defending it.

M. Rulli received his letter last night but he regards it with the same consideration that he would a common circular. He says he doesn't pay any attention to the Black Hand Raimondi Gillardi received a letter some time ago but it hasn't given him any worry.

A large number of Black Hand letters have also come to light at Uniontown, and the County Seat officials are making an effort to ferret out the senders. A peculiarity about the letters sent to Italians at Uniontown is the fact that nearly all of them are for small amounts.

SIMPSON PROMOTED.

Will Go With the American Water & Guarantee Company, an Allied West Penn Concern.

J. H. Simpson, who has been real estate agent for the West Penn Railways Company, has received a nice promotion, having been assigned to a position in the office of J. B. Van Waggoner, the treasurer, where he will assist in the conduct of the business of the American Water & Guarantee Company, an allied West Penn concern.

Mr Simpson has been with the West Penn Company for the past four years. His duties have been numerous, but he has made an excellent record for himself, and the promotion is well deserved. No one has been appointed to succeed him.

He will leave for his new work on Saturday. It is likely that his new position will result in his resignation as Captain of Company D, although this has not been decided upon at this time.

Mr. Simpson is receiving the congratulations of all the West Penn employes over his good luck today.

New Salem's School District.

A petition signed by 126 freeholders of New Salem independent school district was presented to court at Uniontown this morning that the independent district should not be abolished, an action that has been contemplated.

Healy P. Cross of Uniontown is seeking a divorce from his wife, Julia Cross, charging desertion and infidelity. They were married in Uniontown in 1896.

TWELVE PULLETS COST $1,100, PULLET OWNER GETTING COIN.

Predicament of a Mountain Huckster and the Luck of Springfield Township Woman.

DECISION FOR PLAINTIFF

In the Gas Engine Case on Trial at Uniontown.

UNIONTOWN, Jan. 29.—A verdict was ordered for the plaintiff this morning by Judge Van Swearingen in the case of the Motor Gas Engine Company against D. J. Johnson and Sample and Marshall which was an action in replevin.

The point was brought that a foreign company could not do business in the state without having an agent or offices in it. After considerable argument the decision as stated above was made by the court.

ADDRESSING JURY.

Littleton Began His Argument to the Thaw Jury This Morning and Case Nearing End.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Announcement of Attorney Littleton's sum-up attracted the largest crowd of the Thaw trial. Evelyn sat beside Mrs. George L. Carnegie and Mrs. William Thaw, the latter being plainly worn and ill.

Littleton immediately took up the question of reasonable doubt. "The defendant is entitled to every presumption of innocence," he thundered. An American verdict from an American jury is all we want. We believe that you are convinced that the defendant was of unsound mind when he killed Stanford White. The prosecution was compelled to prove him sane at the time of the killing, but we were not compelled to prove that he was of unsound mind."

AGAIST REDUCTION.

Miners Will Oppose Any Proposition for a Reduction of Wages by Operators.

United Press Telegram.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 29.—Before evening the miners will have the report of the canvassing Committee which will make known the election of officers. Undoubtedly Thomas L. Lewis will be elected President, John P. White Vice President and W. D. Ryan Secretary. The miners will be ready tomorrow to meet the operators.

The position which both sides to the interstate agreement will take is uncertain. It is almost certain that both the miners and operators will go home without an agreement. The miners will fight any proposition looking toward a decrease of wages in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Western Pennsylvania.

CAUGHT WITH GOLD.

Express Office Robbers Are Quickly Rounded Up in an Ohio Town Today.

United Press Telegram.

MANSFIELD O., Jan. 29.—Carrying $3,000 in gold, two men were taken from a Big Four train at New London today. They were charged with stealing money from the Adams Express Company office here.

The men entered the express office as the clerks were just wording a package which had just come by the express. The clerks were covered with pistols while one robber went to the safe where he secured a bag containing $4,000, removing a package containing $400,000 to reach the bag, and then escaped.

BRAKEMAN KILLED.

Died of Injuries Received in Fall from His Train.

CUMBERLAND, Jan. 28.—George I. Anderson, aged 27 years, who resided on Highland street, this city, died on Saturday night at the Allegheny hospital from injuries sustained in a fall from his train near Connellsville 24 hours previously. He was a Baltimore & Ohio brakeman. In his fall he sustained a fracture of the base of the skull. Mr Anderson was found lying along the side of the track and was carried to the Markleton Sanitarium Friday he was brought to Cumberland and taken to the Allegany hospital.

The body was prepared for burial at the Stein morgue and removed to the Anderson home on Highland street. The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon and interment will be made in Rose Hill cemetery. William Anderson a machinist, employed in the Western Maryland shops at Elkins, is a surviving brother.

SHE HAS THE MONEY IN BANK.

While the Huckster Is Ashamed to Tell He Lost His Pocketbook In Neighbor's Coop When He Came Surreptitiously for the Chickens.

The story of the theft of twelve pullets from the coop of a Springfield township woman and the finding of a pocket book containing over $1,100 in cash is the choicest bit of gossip that has circulated in the mountain district adjoining Connellsville township for years. A woman who lives along the Springfield road, or close to it, not long ago awoke one morning to find that her chicken coop had been broken into during the night and twelve plump pullets surreptitiously removed. The woman was chagrined. The pullets were her pride. They had just started to lay. Not one of them missed a day. Pullets that will lay a dozen eggs a day at 40 cents a dozen are valuable.

The owner of the pullets made a thorough examination of the chicken coop. The lock had been broken. Not a feather had been disturbed in the removal of the fowls. Each plump pullet had been deftly lifted from its roost. In walking about the coop the woman's foot tread on something peculiar in feel. She stooped down and investigated in the straw. She was astounded to find a long leather pocketbook bulging with genuine greenbacks.

There was over $1,100 in bills neatly pressed in the big wallet. The woman did not confide to anyone for several days of her find. She secreted the money and ceased to mourn for the pullets. Directly a huckster who makes period cal trips through the mountains and over into Somerset county came along. He inquired if the woman had any chickens for sale. She told him the story of their theft, omitting any reference to the finding of the pocket book. The huckster didn't seem surprised at the loss of the pullets, but evinced a strong desire to see the coop they had been taken from. The woman accompanied him there and could hardly suppress a smile as the nervous huckster shuffled and scraped about the straw on the floor of the coop as he pretended to look things over. He examined the floor carefully with his feet and then was loath to leave.

A day or so following the huckster's visit the woman took the money to Uniontown where she deposited the roll in a bank, telling the cashier of the manner in which she found it and her suspicions as to its owner. It is still there. The huckster is either afraid or ashamed to admit that he lost his pocket book in the chicken coop, and the woman who found it is not worrying about the loss of her chickens. Neither is she advertising her luck. However, the story was inadvertently told to a neighbor, and now it is traveling like a full mountain fire up in Springfield township.

THEATRE SOLD.

Charles Soisson Purchases the Bijou for $500 and S. Hantman Buys Uniontown Furnishings.

The Bijou Theatre owned by David Margoff was sold at Sheriff's sale for the creditors of Margoff, who has entered a petition in bankruptcy, to Charles Soisson for $500. The amusement place is said to have cost Margoff over $5,000. Its interior is one of the prettiest in this section. Mr. Soisson expects to open the theatre as soon as arrangements can be made with the booking companies to do so.

The interior furnishings of Mr. Margoff's house at Uniontown were disposed of under like conditions to S. Hantman for $82. These furnishings when new cost the proprietor in the neighborhood of $500. The sales were made yesterday.

A Coming Wedding.

A coming wedding is that of O. S. Gettys, a well known young business man of Connellsville, and Miss Mary Himelright, also of this place. Miss Himelright left this morning for Winchester, Va., her former home, where the wedding will take place next month.

STRONG EFFORT TO SECURE FUNDS.

Darr Mine Relief Association Adopts New Plans to Raise Relief Fund.

COLLECTIONS IN CHURCHES.

Ministerial Association Will be Asked to Take Up One Sunday—Elks May Give a Concert to Help Along the Good Work

A large attendance of the members of the Darr Mine Relief Association turned out at the meeting held in the Wallace furniture store last night and plans were adopted for raising the amount that it is felt Connellsville should contribute. The general impression is that Connellsville, Scottdale and Uniontown and other small towns in this neighborhood should raise between $8,000 and $9,000. A resolution was passed asking the Ministerial Association of this community to take up a collection in the churches Sunday, February 9, for the Darr mine sufferers.

A personal canvas of the business district will be made at once by fifteen members appointed by the committee. These committees will visit the down town district, and hope to get started this afternoon. To every person contributing to the fund they will give a certificate showing the amount of the contribution and any amount no matter how small will be acceptable. It is hoped by this system a good sum can be secured.

The secretary was authorized to communicate with the business interests of Uniontown and Scottdale with a request for their co-operation.

John Duggan of New Haven, who contributed a lot in Greenwood to be raffled, was present and discussed the method of disposing of the lot to the best advantage of the sufferers. The plan adopted was to have each of the mine communities form a committee to secure subscriptions and make a canvass of their people at once. The lot is to go to the person turning in the largest contribution to the fund. P. J. Tormay, who was present approved of the plan and said that he would take it up with the Frick Company at a meeting of the Superintendents in Scottdale today.

It is probable that the Connellsville Lodge of Elks will give a benefit concert for the fund. D. F. Girard met with the committee and has undertaken the presentation of the matter to the Elks, and an announcement will be made in the near future.

STRICKLER WILL.

Valuable Estate in Lower Tyrone Township Divided Among the Children.

UNIONTOWN, Jan 29.—The will of the late Daniel F. Strickler of Lower Tyrone township was probated this morning. All of the personal property is left to the widow, Mrs. Sophia Strickler. The real estate is also given to her for five years after the death of her husband.

Out of the first money coming from the estate $30 is to be paid to Mrs. Harriet Highee. The balance of the estate is to be divided equally among 11 children. When the division is made $500 is to be charged against the sons, Winfield and James, and daughter, Sarah ' Gallatin $200 against Martha Strickler and $100 against Malinda Strickler. The will was made in September 1907 and is witnessed by H. A. Crow and U. C. Higbee.

ANNIVERSARY

Of Friendship Lodge of Moyer Celebrated in Pleasant Fashion Last Night

Friendship Lodge of Odd Fellows of Moyer, last night celebrated its fourth anniversary by holding a banquet in its hall. There were about 150 guests present at the event. Rev. Kerr of Vanderbilt and Rev. Wise, an evangelist delivered addresses during the evening and several of the invited guests also addressed the gathering briefly. W. C. Means, a past officer presided over the ceremonies.

The banquet was served in the hall by the members of the lodge and their wives. It was a very pleasant and happy event. The lodge is one of the most flourishing in this part of the State.

WOMAN'S CIRCLE

Of the First Baptist Church Holds Meeting

A large number of ladies were present yesterday afternoon at the regular meeting of the Woman's Missionary Circle of the First Baptist church held at the home of Mrs. I. W. Dixon on East Main street. Owing to the absence of the President, Mrs. I. A. Marshall, Mrs. Dixon presided.

There was no regular program. Miss Harriet Cooper, State Field Worker of the Woman's Missionary Society of Chicago being present and delivered an interesting talk on missionary work. At the close of Miss Cooper's talk refreshments were served by the hostess.

UNIONTOWN WEDDING.

D. Guy Johnston and Miss Flora Belle Hagan

D. Guy Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Harry Johnston, and a prominent young business man of Uniontown and Miss Flora Belle Hagan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Hagan of Uniontown were married in Pittsburg yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the First English Lutheran church personage, Rev. George J. Congaware the pastor officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnston left last night for New York where they will take the steamer Algonquin for Florida, their objective point being Miami where the bride's parents are spending the winter.

RECORD HOUSE

At the Soisson Theatre Last Evening to Witness the Great Divide

An audience that packed every foot of floor space in the New Soisson Theatre saw "The Great Divide" last night. Standing room and chairs were at a premium long before eight o'clock. It was a record house for Manager Fred Robbins. Henry Miller and Margaret Anglin were not in the cast. John E. Ince Jr. and Adora Andrews played their parts.

To those who have seen Miller and Anglin in "The Great Divide" last night's performance would be a distinct disappointment. Neither Ince nor Miss Andres has that polish necessary to make "The Great Divide" of intense and absorbing interest. There were times when the acting of both dropped almost to the stiltedness of amateurs. The acting of Shelly Hull as Philip Jordan, brother of the heroine, and Howard Hull as Newberry Winthrop never rose above the work of amateurs.

As a probable state of affairs between husband and wife "The Great Divide" presents an impossibility. Ruth Jordan in life would not have continued her drooping spirit of "The Great Divide" so long. Stephen Ghent's purchase of her with the string of nuggets was the only way out of the predicament in which Ruth found herself. He was at all times honorable with her and later fine in his unselfish love. It makes one impatient to see Ruth make of Stephen Ghent the brunette Southdown of their home so long when it is patent that he has suffered sufficiently for the pain and terror he caused her and is striving to atone. The audience last night was ready to forgive Stephen long before Ruth did.

WEDDING ANNOUNCED.

Joseph K. Brown of Connellsville and Mrs. Elizabeth Shapter of Columbus, O.

A handsomely appointed home wedding was that of Mrs. Elizabeth Shapter of Columbus, O., and Joseph K. Brown of this place which was solemnized Thursday afternoon, January 16 at 3 o'clock at the home of the bride on Soulder avenue, Columbus, O. Rev. Nicholas Holttick, pastor of the West Broad Street Presbyterian Church officiated. The bride was unattended and wore a handsome gown of white Persian lawn with valenciennes trimmings made princess and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses.

As the bridal party entered the parlor where the ceremony was performed Lohengrin's wedding march was softly rendered by Miss Katherine Oyler. The house was artistically decorated with palms and ferns and the ceremony was witnessed by a number of friends of the bride and groom. Mrs. Brown is a well known club woman and an ardent worker in several philanthropic organizations. She is a charter member of the Female Benevolent Association and an active worker in the Bay View Reading Club, a prominent worker in the West Broad Street Presbyterian Church. Mr. Brown has been located in Connellsville for the past several years. He was an active Y. M. C. A. worker and is well known in musical circles. Mr. Brown returned to Connellsville yesterday and will return to Columbus, O. the latter part of the week where he and his bride will reside on Soulder avenue.

PLUMMER A CANDIDATE

Comes Out for Local Option but Silent About Penrose

ALTOONA, Pa., Jan. 23.—(Special.) Lee Plummer of Hollidaysburg has announced his candidacy for legislature from the Second District of Blair county. While he remains silent on Penrose's candidacy for Senatorship he comes out squarely for local option.

A Remedy of Hard Times

L. L. CLUB ENTERTAINED

By Miss Sallie Allen, New Haven Yesterday Afternoon

The Light Literature Club was entertained yesterday afternoon by Miss Sallie Allen at her home on Seventh street, New Haven. The hours were from 2:30 until 5 o'clock and the meeting was a most delightful one. The club is composed of ladies from New Haven and all members were present with the exception of Mrs. J. R. Balsley who was detained on account of illness.

It is likely that the name of the club will be changed at the next meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. L. Neff on Second street, New Haven. A dainty luncheon was served about 4:30 o'clock.

VANDERBILT.

Personal Chat From Fayette County's New Borough.

VANDERBILT, Jan 28—The nomination for borough offices was held Saturday and everything passed off quietly. It was one, however, that will live long in the minds of those who took part in it. It seemed to be the old fight over again the borough men against the antis. 151 voters braved the inclemency of the weather that they might win the victory or go down to defeat. However the borough men won a decisive battle and with hands down so to speak.

Rev T P Kerr pastor of the Presbyterian church and Joseph A Strickler were lately elected to attend the Men's Foreign Missionary Convention which meets in Philadelphia February 11 to the 13th. This is expected to be one of the greatest missionary meetings ever held in this section of the country. Delegates will be present from all parts of North America. Rev Kerr and Mr Strickler will leave on the 10th of next month.

Justice of the Peace I H P Clifton was in Uniontown yesterday and paid the County Commissioners a visit leaving with them the result of Saturday's primaries.

Jacob Harshman was looking after matters of a business nature in Connellsville yesterday.

Rev T P Kerr will go to Moyer this evening where he will deliver an address before the members of the I O O F.

The various candidates for borough offices received the following votes at Saturday's primary. Republican—Judge of Election I P Clifton 60 Inspector S R Means 49 School Directors C C Collins 29 I B Henderson 19 William Wilson 17 Constable R M Maust 23 Ell Nicklow 1 Council J T Collins 47 J W Lane 25 William Paul 27 Lloyd Shallenberger 15 Marshall Thomas 2 Auditor, Dr H L Hall 15 Lloyd Shallenberger 16. Democratic—Inspector Oliver Cooney 59 School Directors C F Arkino 57 W A Cosgrove 0 Calvin Martin 6 Constable Jacob Harsh man 72 Council J T Beatty 18 W J Reed, 76 Jame Russell 6 L N Strickler 67 and Jos Cullen 24. It will be noticed that the Democrats did not nominate any candidate for Judge of Election they having taken up H P Clifton the Republican candidate and one who has made a fair and impartial judge. The men selected to be voted for at the February election are Republican Council Lloyd Shallenberger, William Paul and J W Collins School Directors William Wilson and C C Collins. Democratic Council W J Reed L N Strickler and J Beatty School Directors C B Arison and Calvin Martin. The great-est fight at the coming election will be for School Director and Council.

A meeting of Town Council will be held Monday evening, and as this is the first meeting night in the month all Councilmen should attend.

C C Smith, aged 26 years passed to the great beyond yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The direct cause of his death was consumption, from this disease he has been a sufferer for a number of years. A few weeks ago the pastor of the Christian church at this place went out to A C Smith's farm where the young man had made his home with his brother D O Smith and baptized him. It was then thought that his time on earth was short and he desired to prepare for the world. He is survived by the following brothers M S and J H Smith of Pitcairn, J E Smith of Scenery Hill, Washington county and D O Smith of near town. Two sisters also survive him, Mrs J V Lichtenfels and Mrs D H Winebrenner of Pitcairn. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

PERRYOPOLIS, Jan 28—Grant Blair of Cuff was a business caller in town Monday.

At the turkey dinner given by Mr and Mrs Edward Stuckle Sunday in honor of their sons daughters and grand children twenty seven were present. Mr Stuckle is one of our permanent citizens since last fall and we are always glad to have him having such glad refreshing hours.

George Armstrong of New Haven was calling on his father James Armstrong.

Frank Hixenbaugh was a Uniontown caller yesterday.

Robert Lincoln of Redline a plasterer of reputation was shaking hands with friends yesterday.

The canine family around Sweet Cake and Star Junction was lessened 17 Monday and the owners paid their taxes rather than to see the dogs shot. Messrs Matt Carson, Alvin Byers and Enoch Lamworth comprise the committee attending this unpleasant task.

A M Fuller whose name appeared in these columns some time ago as treating the children of town New Year's evening to candies and oranges has made a donation to the High School of no small merit. Principal Snyder announced last evening that matter had fallen in line with M D Strawn and expressed their desire to contribute an equal sum for High School equipment.

More than a score of young men and women have accepted the side of right since the M E revival services started and many more are contemplating making a start.

Rockwood.

ROCKWOOD, Jan 28—Hon E D Miller who has been at his home here ill for the past several weeks returned to Pittsburg yesterday to resume his duties as Chief of the Dairy and Food Department of the State in that city.

Clarke H Coleman formerly a well known citizen of this place but who is now residing at Fort Hill where he is in charge of the Saylor grist mill of that place was calling on his friends here yesterday. Mr Coleman had a desire to become a candidate for County Treasurer but after feeling his way for some time and counting up the many other candidates in the field, he decided to withdraw his name.

At Basketball by Lyceum at Uniontown Last Night.

The Connellsville Y M C A basketball team met the Lyceum team last night at the Lyceum rink in Uniontown and was defeated by a score of 20 to 13. The Y M C A team is the one that defeated the Lyceum boys a week or so ago in Connellsville by a score of 10 to 12. The playing of King and Eby for Connellsville was good. In the second half Malloy was substituted for King and played a nice game. The line up:

Eby	F	Maust
King	F	Snyder
Brown	C	Haggerty
Buthrod	G	Springer
Thomas	G	King

Summary—Field goals, Eby 1, King 3, Guthrod 1, Maust 2, Snyder 1, Haggerty 3, Springer 3. Foul goals, King 1, Maust 2. Referee, Abraham. Timekeeper and scorer, Chisholm.

The Connellsville High School and Uniontown High School teams meet at the Lyceum on Friday evening.

Pushing Out Winter Goods Startling Bargains

Greatest economical time for buying in the history of the Union Supply Company. Remnants and odd lots in every department, many unbroken lines of Men's, Women's and Children's raiment, all being pushed out at startling reductions. You have been reading about the bargains for several weeks and if you have not joined the throng of purchasers it is time to get in line. For the balance of this month there will be special additional cuts, making the bargains the greatest yet offered.

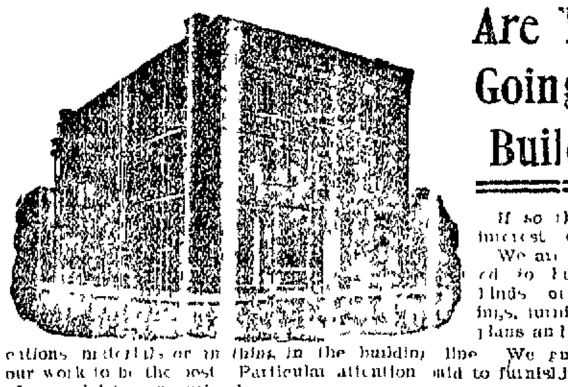

Startling Bargains in the Shoe Departments

The extraordinary reductions, the usual values, the general desirability of the goods, and the great variety you have to select from in these large stocks will justify you in coming any distance to avail yourself of the opportunity. The stock of Women's and Misses Dress Shoes is large, the depression has made business backward and we are going to close them out. Stocks must be reduced and if you have any money you cannot invest it better.

THE HOSPITALITY OF CONNELLSVILLE

The hospitality of the Christian people of Connellsville will not fail the State Convention of the Young Men's Christian Association next month

We make this statement with confidence because it is written By their fruits ye shall know them Many previous Christian gatherings have been held in Connellsville, and its people have met their guests with the welcome smile the glad hand the open door and the bounteous table

Connellsville has a high reputation for its hospitality We have entertained everything in the way of public gatherings worth thinking about except the Fayette County Teachers Institute and it is not our fault that we have never entertained them but their misfortune only Some day we will elect a Connellsville man County Superintendent and change all this

In the meantime however we will endeavor to establish a reputation for hospitality that will attract people unto us Let all who can open their houses and their hearts to the Young Men's Christian Association delegates

CONNELLSVILLE ANOTHER CENTER.

Connellsville is not only the center of the coke region which bears its name but it is also the center of that region's electric light and power

Fayette county and the Monongahela valley as far as Charleroi Pa and Westmoreland county as far as Greensburg, depend upon the great central power house at Connellsville for their lights, and the whole West Penn trolley system is operated from this point.

An interruption in the operation of the central power house brings forcibly to the notice of all the other towns in this wide scope of territory the fact that Connellsville is very much on the map, in spite of the feeble efforts of some jealous neighboring newspapers to put us off

But so perfectly finished and carefully guarded is the machinery of the central station that such accidents are happily of rare occurrence nor indeed are they necessary to vindicate Connellsville's claim to municipal importance

CORTELYOU'S JUSTIFICATION

The Secretary of the Treasury replies to some criticisms on his official conduct during the recent financial scare His answer is full and conclusive He justifies all his actions and the country will accept the justification

In fact it was scarcely necessary There are always some captious critics who are ready to accuse the Treasury of being subservient if not subsidiary to capital and to insinuate that public officials are animated by motives of personal gain instead of patriotic impulses Even so high a character as Grover Cleveland did not escape this slander

The Treasury is the people's and should be made to serve the people's interests wherever possible The public interests demanded the intervention of the Treasury The country's shattered credit rested upon it recovered its breath and was able to withstand the shocks to which it was subjected

The only criticism that can be made concerning the Treasury is that it is not under existing laws capable of lending enough assistance in times of financial crisis and this defect it is now the object of the Congress to cure

SYMPATHETIC STRIKES

John Mitchell will go down in history as one of the ablest Presidents the union miners ever had and his parting injunction to the United Mine Workers is to avoid sympathetic strikes I have not seen any benefit accrue from any sympathetic strikes he says

There may be isolated cases where in one labor organization is aided by a sympathetic strike on the part of a kindred organization but as a general rule President Mitchell's proposition is correct

Even where aid is rendered in this indirect manner to the cause of union labor it is usually at the expense of the sympathizers Every tub should stand on its own bottom is an old adage and when the tub won't so stand there is something radically wrong with its architecture

Union labor should be careful in its efforts to obtain its just reward that it does not do injustice to its employment It is generally conceded that the man who killed the goose that laid golden eggs was a foolish fellow Union labor is sometimes powerful enough to kill the goose but the killing reacts upon itself

Probably this is what John Mitchell meant

The Washington county man who refused to get off the trolley trestle and made the car wait his pleasure in walking off probably never met B & O railroad trains the Yough river bridge Chief Rottler and others thought it was best to lie down when they came up against the B & O proposition

---

Burglars have become so common that perhaps it was natural for B & O trainmen to imagine that a whole freight train was being held up

---

Connellsville gave the Darr mine sufferers substantial sympathy

The dangers of riding freight trains and walking railroad tracks will never dawn upon some people

Boys Shoes

Get some pretty hard bumps and it takes shoes that are made in the right way to stand them If there are any shoes that will stand the rough wear of a school boy we believe we have them Our "Good Shoes for Bad Boys" are built for service and the hardest kind of service at that. The shoes are not clumsy looking, but are just built in a substantial way and from leather intended to stand hard wear. They are the right kind of shoes for rough sloppy weather. They are made with a neat round toe shape and good weight soles Lace only.

WEATHER FORECAST.

For Western Pennsylvania—Snow and much colder Wednesday with a cold wave Thursday cold except snow flurries near Lake Erie

Taking Stock

By Friday of this week everything in this store will have been measured and counted And Saturday morning we will be all ready to start in on another business year Lots of goods here that we do not want to count Don't intend to if little prices will get rid of them This week short lengths and remnants and odd garments will be put on the bargain tables and these tables will be full of exceptional bargains all week Every piece or garment marked so you can tell all about it yourself It will be worth your while to take a look at these tables any day next week

Children's Coats and Furs

Call particular attention to the display of these in the window Any one you want for $3 00 Some of those coats run in sizes as large as ten years Not a coat or fur piece that did not sell for more than double this price

Misses' Coats at ½ Price

Same ones we told you about last week That announcement led to the sale of a good number of them but we've still a fair assortment to choose from Sizes, 8 to 14 years and the biggest bargain this coat room has to offer

Dress Goods and Silk Remnants

Short pieces and ends of pieces Some with enough for a waist or skirt Others with enough for a child's dress and still others with enough for a full sized dress All of these marked at prices that are worth your while to investigate More chance for real economy for you at these tables than any place else we know of

Embroidery at 10c the Yard

A table full of embroidery and insertion just as you enter the store Every piece priced at 10 cents the yard You'll appreciate what a bargain this is once you see the goods Don't expect to have to measure a yard of this by Friday

Wide Ribbons for 20c the Yard

Another lot that we do not expect to have to measure on Friday Every staple color and a good quality of ribbon Regular price of part was 25 cents some 35 cents and some higher For example there are several pieces of heavy black double faced satin that sold for 75 cents and 85 cents the yard

The New Spring Suits

First showing of these next week Plenty of blues and browns Stylish jaunty little suit that give you a very fair idea of the kind of suits that you will find at this store this spring Some of these materials in these suits you'll find rather scarce later on especially in the shades of blue Glad to have you see these and have you pass your opinion and tell us how you like the styles and the materials

SQUIRE HUBBS IS BUSY

Former Popular P. R. R. Engineer Cleared of an Ugly Charge.

COMRADE H. D. BOLE'S HARD LUCK

In the Past Several Years Well Known Veteran Has Had a Number of Severe Operations—Local and Personal.

SCOTTDALE Jan 29—There was considerable doing in Justice Hubbs' court yesterday afternoon The first case was that of William Hutchinson of Greensburg known generally as "Hutchy" Hutchinson was accused of taking a pocket book and $28 from the H te boarding house on Bridge street The money was in an up stairs room Hutchinson had been rooming he e for a few days and was up stairs yesterday morning when it was discovered that the money was taken No one else was in the upper part of the house and suspicion pointed to him as the guilty party After he had gone up street the empty pocket book was found at the Pittsburg street crossing of the Pennsylvania railroad Hutchinson was at once arrested and searched but had only $1 10 on him and he was known to have that amount of money the evening previous At the hearing he was discharged

Hutchy was at one time a trusted engineer of the Pennsylvania railroad and made some record runs over the Southwest branch with the Accommodation He had accumulated a large amount of money in Scottdale and Greensburg but he allowed J Barleycorn to take the throttle of his life and he is now striking his old friends for an occasional lift

The second case before the Squire was that of Harry Reagan who had been arrested on complaint of his wife for not paying the sum stipulated for the care of the children Reagan and his wife have not lived together for over four years and he was required to pay toward the support of the three children Of late he has been careless in the matter and she had him arrested It was agreed that he was to pay $1 a week for the support of each of the children so long as they were in the care of the mother and he is to give bond with his father as security for the faithful performance of the agreement Reagan also got in the clutches of the borough police, and is doing a four day thinking act in the borough bastile

Comrade H D Bole was able to be on the street for a short time yesterday for the first time after having an operation performed for the removal of a growth from the inside of his lower lip This was the second operation for the same trouble Comrade Bole has a long and honorable record as a soldier of the Civil War and passed through that without injury but has been meeting with bad luck for the past five years having been under the knife of the surgeon five times In addition to the two above mentioned he had a growth removed from his right eye a few years ago Then a few years later two operations were necessary to stop the ravages of gangrene in his left foot and leg

Dr and Mrs C W McKee went to Pittsburg yesterday evening where Mrs McKee entered the East End hospital and expects to undergo an operation at noon there today

The set, illustrated herein, consists of six pieces, as follows:

One Cooking Kettle ......2 quarts
One Cooking Kettle...... 4 quarts
One Bake Pan...... 1 quart
One Bake Pan. ......2 quarts
One Two-piece Self-basting Roaster.

Good food and a good cook are not enough to produce a good meal. Much depends on the vessels in which the food is prepared. The best of pure food becomes unwholesome if prepared in a vessel that is not scrupulously clean. This is the chief difficulty with tin, iron or enameled vessels. Not only does this food burn easily, but after the vessels have been in use for some time there is always more or less disagreeable odor coming from the bottom, no matter how they are scoured and cleaned.

This difficulty becomes a positive danger to health when the enamel, which contains arsenic, antimony and lead, begins to crack and chip off. These poisons are absorbed by the foods, particularly fruits and vegetables, and often lead to chronic stomach trouble and other ailments, for which there is no apparent explanation.

For these reasons doctors, as well as teachers of domestic science, have been for years recommending the use of earthenware utensils. They are always clean, always wholesome, and subject to none of the objections which obtain against metal utensils.

You now know why you should have a set of "SANITO" Kitchen Utensils, and

Here Is the Way to Get Them:—Send in your subscription for The Daily Courier for 4 months and you can have our six-piece set for 98c. Remember this set would cost you $2.50 any place in the United States, therefore, it's up to you to get a set while they last.

"Dinner is announced," she said. "Please go in farm fashion. Wait!" as Plank, following the major and Quarrier, stood aside for her to pass. "No, you go ahead, Howard, and you," to the major.

Left for a moment in the room with Plank, she stood listening to the others descending the stairs, then:

"Have you seen Mr. Siward?"

"Yes," said Plank.

"Oh! Is he well?"

"Not very."

"Is he well enough to read a letter and to answer one?"

"Oh, yes; he's well enough in that way."

"I supposed so. That is why I said to you, over the wire, not to trouble him with my request."

"You mean that I am not to say anything about your offer to buy the hunter?"

"No. If I make up my mind that I want the horse I'll write him—perhaps."

Lingering still, she let one hand fall on the banisters, turning back toward Plank, who was following.

"I understood you to mean that—that Mr. Siward's financial affairs were anything but satisfactory?"—the sweet, trailing, upward inflection making it a question.

"When did I say that?" demanded Plank.

"Once—a month ago."

"I didn't," said Plank bluntly.

"Oh, I had inferred it, then, from something you said or something you were silent about. Is that it?"

"I don't know."

"Am I quite wrong then?" she asked, looking him in the eyes.

And Plank, who never lied, found no answer. Considering him for a moment in silence, she turned again and descended the stairs.

The dinner was one of those thoroughly well chosen dinners of few courses and faultless service suitable for card players, who neither care to stuff themselves as a preliminary to a battle royal nor to dawdle through courses, eliminating for themselves what is not good for them. The men drank a light, sound, aromatic Irish of the major's; the women—except Marion, who took what the men took—used claret sparingly. Coffee was served where they sat; the men smoking. Agatha and Marion producing their own cigarettes.

"Good people, if you are ready we will go through the ceremony of cutting for partners—unless otherwise you decide. How say you?" said Sylvia.

"I don't care to enter the scramble for a man," cried Grace. "If it's to choose, I'd as soon choose Marion."

Plank looked at Leila, who laughed.

"All right; choose, then," said Sylvia. "Howard, you're dying, of course, to play with me, but you're looking very guiltily at Agatha."

The major asked Leila at once, so Plank fell to Sylvia, pitted against Marion and Grace Ferrall.

A few moments later the quiet of the library was broken by the butler entering with decanters and ice and glasses that tinkled frostily.

Play began at table No. 1 on a passed make of no trumps by Sylvia, and at the other table on a doubled and redoubled heart make, which sent a delicate flush into Agatha's face and drove the last vestige of lingering thoughtfulness from Quarrier's, leaving it a tense, pallid and expressionless mask, out of which looked the velvet fringed eyes of a woman.

Of all the faces there at the two tables Sylvia's alone had not changed, neither assuming the gambler's mask nor the infatuated glare of the amateur. She was thoughtful, excited, delighted or dismayed by turns, but always wholesomely so, the game for its own sake and not the stakes absorbing her, partly because she had never permitted herself to weigh money and pleasure in the same balance, but kept a mental pair of scales for each.

As usual, the fever of gain was fiercest in those who could afford to lose most. Quarrier, playing to rule with merciless precision, coldly exacted every penalty that a lapse in his opponents permitted. Agatha, her teeth set in her nether lip, her eyes like living jewels, answered Quarrier's every signal, interpreted every sign, her play fitting in exactly with his, as though she were his subconscious self balancing the perfectly adjusted mechanism of his body and mind.

Now and then lifting her eyes she sent a long, limpid glance at Quarrier like a pale shaft of light, and under his heavy fringed lashes at moments his level gaze encountered hers with a slow narrowing of lids—as though there was more than one game in progress, more than one stake being played for under the dull rose glow of the clustered lights.

The collar of diamonds and aquamarines shimmered like the reflection of shadowy lightning across her throat. A single splendid jewel glowed on her left hand as her fingers flashed among the cards for the makeup.

"A hundred aces," broke in Plank's heavy voice as he played the last trick and picked up the scoring card and pencil.

Once Marion, overintent, touched a card in the dummy when she should have played from her own hand, and Sylvia would have let it pass had not Plank calmly noted the penalty.

"Oh, dear! It's too much like business," sighed Sylvia. "Can't we play for the sake of the sport? I don't think it good sportsmanship to profit by a blunder."

"Rule," observed Marion laconically. "Ware barbed wire if you want the brush."

"I myself never was crazy for the brush," murmured Sylvia.

Grace whispered maliciously, "But you've got it, with the mask and pads," and her mischievous head barely tipped backward in the direction of Quarrier.

"Especially the mask," returned Sylvia under her breath and laid on the table the last card of a Yarborough.

Toward midnight Sylvia, absorbed in her dummy, fancied she heard the electric bell ringing at the front door. Later, having barely made the add, she was turning to look at the major when, beyond him, she saw Leroy Mortimer enter the room, sullen, pasty skinned, but perfectly sober and well groomed.

"You are a trifle late," observed Sylvia carelessly. Grace Ferrall and Marion ignored him. Plank bade him good evening in a low voice.

The people at the other table, having completed their rubber, looked around at Mortimer in disagreeable surprise.

"I'll cut in if you want me. If you don't, say so," observed Mortimer.

It was plain that they did not, so he settled himself in an armchair with an ugly glance at his wife and an insolent one at Quarrier, and the game went on in silence. Leila and the major still losing heavily under the sneering gaze of Mortimer.

At last, "Who's carrying you?" he broke out, exasperated, and in the shocked silence Leila, very white, made a movement to rise, but Quarrier laid his long finger across her arm, pressing her backward.

"You don't know what you're saying," he remarked, looking coldly at Mortimer.

Plank laid down his cards, rose and walked over to Mortimer.

"May I have a word with you?" he asked bluntly.

"You may. And I'll help myself to a word or two with you," retorted Mortimer, following Plank out of the room, down the stairs to the lighted reception room, where they wheeled, confronting one another.

"What is the matter?" demanded Plank. "At the club they told me you were asleep in the card room. I didn't tell Leila. What is wrong?"

"I'm—I'm dead broke," said Mortimer harshly. "Billy Fleetwood took my paper. Can you help me out? It's due tomorrow."

Plank looked at him gravely, but made no answer.

"Can you?" repeated Mortimer violently. "Haven't I done enough for you? Haven't I done enough for everybody? Is anybody going to show me any consideration? Look at Quarrier's manner to me just now! And this very day I did him a service that all his millions can't repay. And there you stand, too, staring at me as though I were some importuning shabby genteel hinting around for an opening to touch you. Yes, you do! And this very day I have done for you the—the most vital thing—the most sacred favor one man can do for another"—

He halted, stammered something incoherent, his battered eyes wet with tears. The man was a wreck—nerves, stamina, mind on the very verge of collapse.

"I'll help you, of course," said Plank, eying him. "Go home now and sleep. I tell you I'll help you in the morning. Don't give way. Have you no grit? Pull up sharp, I tell you!"

But Mortimer had fallen into a chair, his ravaged face cradled in his hands. He began to ramble and even to laugh weakly, passing his puffy, shaking hands across his eyes.

"It's good of you, Beverly. I appreciate it. But I've been good to you. You're all to the good, my boy! Understand? All to the good. I fixed it. I did it for you. You can have your innings now. You can have her when you want her, I tell you."

"What do you mean?" said Plank menacingly.

"Mean! I mean what I told you that day at Black Falls, when we were riding. I told you you had a chance to win out. Now the chance has come—same's I told you. Start in, and by the time you're ready to say 'When?' she'll be there with the bottle."

"I don't think you are perfectly sane yet," said Plank slowly.

"Let it go at that, then," sniggered Mortimer, struggling to his feet. "Bring Leila back. I'm all in. I'm going home. You'll be around in the morning. Won't you?"

"Yes," said Plank. "Have you got a cab?"

Mortimer had one. The glass and iron doors clanged behind him, and Plank, waiting a moment, sighed, raised his head and, encountering the curious gaze of a servant, trudged off upstairs again.

The game had ended at both tables. Quarrier and Agatha stood by the window together, conversing in low voices. Belwether, at a desk, sat muttering and fussing with a check book. The others were in Sylvia's apartments.

A few moments later Kemp Ferrall arrived, in the best of spirits, very much inclined to consider the night as still young, but his enthusiasm met with no response, and presently he departed with his wife and Marion in their big car.

Leila, in her wraps, emerged in a few moments, looking at Plank out of serious eyes, and they made their brief adieus and went away in Plank's brougham.

When Agatha's maid arrived Quarrier also started to take his leave, but Sylvia, seated at a card table, idly arranging the cards in geometrical designs and fanciful arabesques, looked up at him, saying:

"I wanted to say something to you, Howard."

Agatha passed them, going into Sylvia's room for her wraps, and Quarrier turned to Sylvia.

"Well?" he said, with the slightest hint of impatience.

"Can't you stay a minute?" asked Sylvia, surprised.

"Agatha is going in the motor with me. Is it anything important?"

She considered him without replying. She had never before detected that manner, that hardness in a voice always so even in quality.

"What is it?" he repeated.

She thought a moment, putting aside for the time his manner, which she could not comprehend. Then:

"I wanted to ask you a question—a rather ignorant one perhaps. It's about your Amalgamated Electric company. May I ask it, Howard?"

After a second's stare, "Certainly," he said.

"It's only this: If the other people—the Intercounty, I mean—are slowly ruining Amalgamated, why don't you stop it?"

Quarrier's eyes narrowed. "Oh! And who have you been discussing the matter with?"

"Mr. Plank," she said simply. "I asked him. He shook his head and said I'd better ask you. And I do ask you."

For a moment he stood mute. Then his lips began to shrink back over his beautiful teeth in one of his rare laughs.

"I'll be very glad to explain it some day," he said, but there was no mirth in his voice or eyes, only the snickering lip wrinkling the pallor.

"Will you not answer now?" she asked.

"No, not now. But I desire you to understand it some day—some day before November. And one or two other matters that it is necessary for you to understand. I want to explain them, Sylvia, in such a manner that you will never be likely to forget them. And I mean to. For they are never out of my mind, and I wish them to be as ineffaceably impressed on yours. Good night."

He took her limp hand almost briskly, released it and stepped down the stairs as Agatha entered, cloaked, to say good night.

They kissed at parting—"life embracing death"—as Mortimer had sneered on a similar occasion. Then Sylvia, alone, stood in her bedroom, hands linked behind her, her lovely head bent, groping with the very ghosts of thought which eluded her, fleeing, vanishing, reappearing, to peep out at her only to fade into nothingness she could follow where they flitted through the dark labyrinths of memory.

The major, craning his neck in the bay window, saw Agatha and Quarrier enter the big yellow motor and disappear behind the limousine. And it worried him horribly, because he knew perfectly well that Quarrier had lied to him about a jeweled collar precisely like the collar worn by Agatha Cuthness, and what to do or say to anybody on the subject was for the first time in his life utterly beyond his garrulous ability.

Another matter. He had violated his word and had been caught at it by his prospective nephew-in-law—broken his pledged word not to sell his Amalgamated Electric holdings, and had done it. Yet how could Plank dominate unless another also had done what he had done? And it made him a little more comfortable to know he was sharing the fault with somebody—probably with Siward, whom he now had the luxury of despising for the very thing he himself had done.

"Drunkard!" he muttered to himself. "He's in the gutter at last!"

And he repeated it maliciously, almost reconciled to his own shortcoming, because it was the first time, as far as he knew, that a Belwether might legitimately enjoy the pleasures of holding the word of a Siward in contempt.

Sylvia had dismissed her maid, the old feeling of distaste for the touch of another had returned since the last maid, crushed embrace in Siward's arms had become a memory. Now, blue eyes dreaming under the bright masses of her loosened hair, she sat watching the last glimmer amid the ashes whiffeuing on the hearth, thinking of Siward and of what had been between them and of what could never be—never, never be!

One red spark among the ashes—her ambition, deathless amid the ashes of life! When that, too, went out life must be extinct.

What he had roused in her had died when he went away. It could never awake again unless he returned to awaken it. And he never would. He would never come again.

One brief interlude of love, of passion, in her life could neither that nor taint the cool, normal sequence of her days. All that life held for a woman of her caste—all save that—was hers when she stretched out her hand for it—hers by right of succession, of descent; hers by warrant unquestioned, by the unuttered text of the release to be launched if necessary, by that very, very old lady, drowsing, enthroned, as the endless pageant wound like a jeweled river at her feet.

So Siward could never come again, sauntering toward her through the sunlight, smiling his absent smile. She caught her breath painfully, straightening up. A single ash fell in the fire. The last spark went out.

IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS.

Don't Mistake the Cause of Your Troubles—A Connellsville Citizen Shows How to Cure Them.

Many people never suspect their kidneys. If suffering from a lame, weak or aching back they think that it is only a muscular weakness; when urinary trouble sets in they think it will soon correct itself. And so it is with all the other symptoms of kidney disorders. That is just where the danger lies. You must cure these troubles or they may lead to diabetes or Bright's disease. The best remedy to use is Doan's Kidney Pills. It cures all ills which are caused by weak or diseased kidneys. Connellsville people testify to permanent cures.

Mrs. K. L. Nye, 107 Robbins St., Connellsville, Pa., says: "Mr. Nye had been complaining of backache and kidney trouble for some time. He suffered the usual symptoms that accompany this malady, namely, backache and a loss of energy. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised at Graham & Company's drug store, I bought a box and Mr. Nye started to use them. They acted quickly and gave prompt relief. FOUND TRUE REMEDY.

A. A. Clarke Is Sure Mi-o-na Will Cure All Stomach Troubles.

The incalculable amount of good that Mi-o-na Stomach tablets are doing in Connellsville, in making sick, and even despairing people well, should compel the attention of every judicious person who is out of health with stomach troubles.

The underlying cause of nervous debility, headaches, sleeplessness and melancholy is faulty nutrition, the result of a weakened stomach and inactive bowels.

So long as the stomach is weak the tissues cannot assimilate proper nourishment, no matter how much food is eaten. Mi-o-na increases the strength and activity of the muscular walls of the stomach, regulates the bowels and makes the blood capable of conveying nutriment to all the vital organs.

The use of Mi-o-na stomach tablets makes all the difference between a tired, nervous, sluggish condition, a weakened stomach, and a healthy, energetic bodily condition.

In no other way can you so quickly, so readily and so positively stimulate the stomach to good health as by using Mi-o-na. The fact that this remedy is sold by A. A. Clarke under a guarantee to refund the money unless it cures, shows conclusively its superiority over ordinary, old-fashioned digestives.

A 50 cent box of Mi-o-na lasts a couple of weeks, and will ward off a dozen attacks of indigestion and bring the weakest stomach into a state of strength and good health. 14

SLAY TAKES HIS LIFE.

Rupert Smetana Tries to Kill Wife, Then Takes Morphine.

HIS FAMILY HAD FLED FROM HIM

From Allegheny to Mt. Pleasant Because He Had Frequently Threatened to Kill All of Them—At First Officers Thought Man Was Only Drunk

Special to The Courier

MT PLEASANT, Jan 28.—After making several futile attempts to kill his wife and family, Rupert Smetana a Slavish brick contractor of Allegheny, committed suicide last night at this place by taking morphine

Smetana it seems, had been threatening the life of his wife and family while they were residents of Allegheny His wife was afraid that any day he might come in on them while in a state of intoxication and murder the whole family, as he had often threatened to do before she removed to Mt Pleasant Smetana finally located them here, and, after getting intoxicated, as secured a new razor and went to their home on Washington street with the intention of wiping out the whole family He was met by his wife whom he grabbed by the arm and gave five minutes to prepare for death She finally broke his hold before he was able to carry out his infentions and, running out of the house gave the alarm Officer Stevens was called and when he arrived in company with Blaine Coldsmith they found Smetana on the kitchen floor Thinking he was in a drunken stupor they aroused him and took him to the borough bastile where on searching him they found the razor

When Burgess Crosby and Officer Stevens arrived at the lockup this morning to give him his hearing they found him in a semi conscious state They were not able to arouse him and, thinking something unusual was wrong with the man, they had him removed to the Memorial hospital at this place, where it was found he had taken morphine during the time his wife had fled to give the alarm All efforts of the hospital corps to arouse him were futile and he died this evening at 8 o'clock from the effects of the drug

The only witness to the suicide was his wife's little daughter who told the authorities today that she had seen him take something from a little bottle and drink the contents

The Coroner was notified and an inquest will be held over the body which is now at Zimmerman's morgue on Wednesday.

MY WIFE'S FAMILY

Attraction at the Soisson Theatre on Thursday Evening.

A musical farce comedy said to be of unusual excellence will be the attraction at the Soisson Theatre Thursday January 30 "My Wife's Family" is the combined work of Hall Stephens and Harry Linton, prolific and successful writers of that style of entertainment This merry concoction of fun music and amusing frivolity was greeted by warm praise wherever presented last season, as the jolliest cleanest and liveliest of comedies seen in the musical world a constant creator of laughter that is simply irresistible The comedy appeals to all that is refined the book is not of the forced kind while the musical numbers are all of the jingling, whistling order

The company presenting 'My Wife's Family" was selected for each person sing natural ability to assumme the various characters assigned to them with the result that one of the best drilled organizations on the road today has been got together Clever comedians, pretty girls and a whole ensemble well nigh perfect in every way The costuming, electrical and stage effects are correct in every detail

"Under Southern Skies"

There is the gay spirit of Hallowe en in "Under Southern Skies which comes to the Soisson Theatre Monday February 17, with an excellent company and a beautiful scenic production of the pretty idyll now as famous as "Way Down East" 'Under Southern Skies' is by Lottie Blair Parker of Way Down East fame It is as essentially a georgraphical play as "Way Down East' and succeeds in staging local color and southern life in really charming and unhackneyed style

Big Wagon Load Carted Away From Vicinity of Star Junction.

PERRYOPOLIS, Jan 29—Constable E E Burnsworth of Perry township, Tax Collector Alvin Byers and M E Carson made another trip over towards Star Junction yesterday on a dog hunting expedition They killed 23 dogs, and it required a big two-horse wagon to haul away the carcasses Very little was done in the tax collecting line, this portion only netting $3

This campaign will be continued until Perry township is a safer place for sheep raising and more secure against the ravages of the vagrant canines The foragers are making a trip today over towards Wick Haven and Whitsett.

Representative McGavin of Illinois Deplores This Lack in the Dingley Law.

IMPORTED BY AMERICAN GIRLS

Illinois Statesman Makes Marriage of American Girls to Impecunious Nobles Subject of Set Speech in House of Representatives—Bryan Eulogized.

Washington, Jan. 29.—National politics, international marriages and governmental expenditures formed the themes of discussion in the house of representatives. The urgent deficiency bill was up for consideration, but in several instances it was ignored under the license of general debate. The presence of William J. Bryan in the lobby of the house furnished inspiration to Mr. Wallace of Arkansas for a vigorous speech, in which, while admitting that Mr. Bryan had made mistakes and had been charged with talking too much, he said that the Nebraskan was worthy the honor and suffrage of all the states.

International marriages of American heiresses to titled foreigners were denounced by Mr. McGavin of Illinois. His remarks evoked applause and laughter.

Mr. McGavin's remarks were made under the license of general debate. At times they provoked laughter and applause on both sides of the chamber. The house, he said, was in committee of the whole on the state of the union, but he wanted to know what the state of the union was and what it was coming to "in view of these international unions between American heiresses and alleged nobilities from abroad." He wondered what the early pioneers would think and say if from their graves they could look back and see so many of the women of this country "sacrificing their souls and honor upon the altar of snobbery and vice."

No Schedule for Nobles.

Mr. McGavin said his curiosity had been aroused to know the right committee to which the bill should have gone, but he had found that it properly had gone to the committee on ways and means, because it sought to levy a tax. And then he said he was curious to know whether the present tariff schedule included dukes, earls, lords and counts, "and, finding that these things were nowhere mentioned, I thought it might be proper for the customs officers to classify them like frog's legs or poultry, for it is a general opinion among Americans that they are a species of geese."

Mr. McGavin said the United States triumphantly had referred to the fact that as between it and other nations the balance of trade was in its favor, "but," he said, "nowhere in the summary can be found a reference to such trade as that in which soiled and frayed nobility is exchanged for a few million American dollars wrung from the lambs of Wall street, with a woman thrown in to boot." Every day, he declared, seemed to be a bargain day in New York city, "whether it be for a yard of ribbon or a pound of flesh, whether it be upon the retail counter of Broadway or the auction block of Fifth avenue."

In these days, he said, wealthy American girls traveling abroad when they see some remnant of royalty enthusiastically exclaim: "Oh, mamma, buy me that." An interpreter then is secured, a bargain is made, the money is produced and the girl is gone to soon return a sadder but a wiser one."

Some American Girls Have Sense.

In conclusion Mr. McGavin said: "While I have engaged in some criticism of those particular ones who have made a mockery of the most sacred relation of life—of those not satisfied with any other name but 'Countess Spaghetti' or 'Countess Macaroni,' I want to say one word in tribute to those true American women who have spurned the wiles of earls, lords and counts for the love of his majesty—an American citizen."

The house committee on interstate and foreign commerce has agreed to report favorably the Townsend arbitration bill. This provides for the appointment by the president of a permanent commission to investigate all disputes of moment arising between capital and labor. The bill gives the commission power to summon witnesses and compel their attendance and to inflict punishment for refusal to testify.

No amendments of any consequence were made to the urgent deficiency bill, and it was still pending when the house, at 5:15 p. m., adjourned.

The senate disposed of a large number of minor bills on the calendar and resumed consideration of the bill to revise the criminal code.

Gas Chases Miners in Panic.

Finleyville, Pa., Jan. 29.—A panic was caused among the miners at the Nottingham mine of the Pittsburg Coal company by the discovery of gas in large volume. Without stopping for tools or dinner buckets, all sought safety by climbing through the air shaft. In so doing they were obliged to violate a strict rule of the company, which forbids any miner from passing to or from work through the shaft. The men refuse to reenter the mine until it is made safe.

Four Tanks of Oil Burned.

San Luis Obispo, Cal., Jan. 29.—Fire started in an oil tank belonging to the Union Oil company at Port Harford by a stroke of lightning consumed, with their contents, the tank which was first set on fire and three others belonging to the Standard Oil company. The loss is $150,000.

TORTURED TO DEATH.

Boy Inmate of Illinois Reformatory Is Victim of Fiendish Cruelty.

Pontiac, Ill., Jan. 29.—Members of the board of managers of the Illinois state reformatory in this city at a session that lasted almost throughout the night heard stories from the lips of officers of the institution themselves of brutality and torture inflicted upon William Hamlin, an inmate, whose death and the conflicting explanations thereof have raised a storm of criticism. The original story that the board convened to inquire into that Hamlin was beaten and kicked into a condition that resulted in his death has as yet received no confirmation other than the boy's ante-mortem statement to his mother. But, though hastening to explain that they did not beat, the disciplinarians of the institution admit that they administered punishment beside which a beating would be child's play.

BISHOP SAMUEL FALLOWS.

Bishop Samuel Fallows of St. Paul's Reformed Episcopal church, Chicago, is president of the board of managers which is conducting the investigation. The disciplinarian of the institution is Captain Alexander J. Reno.

The chief developments were the admissions wrung from officers of the institution that young Hamlin was chained up to the bars of the "solitary," his wrists held by handcuffs to a point even with the top of his head, for twenty-two hours the first day of his punishment, for sixteen hours the second day and that the third evening he was tied up with every indication that he faced a similar period of torture, but his endurance gave out after five hours, and after he had revived from a faint he either tried to commit suicide or escape.

Faints From Agony.

Being chained up again, he climbed up the bars of his cell, probably while in a delirium. He fainted the first day of his torture and the third night and for long periods during these fainting spells he hung up by his wrists, suspended from a bar of his cell, his legs too limp to support his weight.

The "cold water cure" was applied, quart after quart of ice water being thrown over him to make him "quit shamming," and once it was poured down his throat until he choked.

After he was injured he was lying on the concrete floor of the "solitary" with only a blanket under him and another over him, his back broken in three places and his body paralyzed, all but the arms, for twelve hours before the reformatory physician was called.

BETTER THAN EXPECTED

Steel Corporation Makes Report on Quarter's Operations.

New York, Jan. 29.—The report of the United States Steel corporation for the quarter ended Dec. 31, 1907, expectantly awaited by the public as an index of industrial conditions, has been made public. The net earnings for the last three months of the corporation's year were $32,578,995. The figures exceeded the hopes of the steel trade. The net earnings for the year of 1907 were $160,984,477, the largest in the company's history. The unfilled orders on hand at the end of the year amounted to 4,624,653 tons. The surplus for the quarter was $2,559,274.

The usual quarterly dividends of one-half of 1 per cent on the common and 1¾ per cent on the preferred stocks were declared by the directors. These dividends show no change from the previous quarter.

The net earnings for the last three months of 1907 show a decrease of $9,180,969, as compared with the same period of 1906, and the unfilled orders on hand are 3,865,165 tons under the figures for the corresponding quarter last year.

Killed According to Regulations.

Washington, Jan. 29.—A public statement was made of the finding of the board that investigated the circumstances connected with the death of an apprentice seaman who died from injuries in a boxing contest on the Cumberland at Newport Jan. 13. It says: "The board finds that all the proper and customary precautions were taken to make the boxing contest a perfectly fair one and to guard against injury, and it is the opinion of the board that no serious injury could reasonably have been expected or even thought possible. The boxing bout was fought with heavily padded gloves of the regulation navy pattern. There was a surgeon at the ringside during the contest and the fight lasted for six rounds."

Socialist Leader Acquitted.

Chicago, Jan. 29.—Dr. Benjamin L. Reitman, who led the march of the "unemployed" last Thursday, has been acquitted of the charge of disorderly conduct preferred against him by the police.

MILLION DOLLAR BLAZE

Furnishes Spectacle for 75,000 in Chicago Business District.

Chicago, Jan. 29.—The third disastrous fire in the business district of the city in as many days caused a loss estimated at more than $1,000,000 in the almost complete destruction of the building at 144 Wabash avenue occupied by Alfred Peats & Co., dealers in wall paper; the building adjoining it on the south, occupied by John A. Colby & Sons, furniture dealers, and those in the rear, fronting on Michigan avenue, occupied by the millinery firms of Gage Bros. & Co., Theodore Ascher & Co. and Edson Keith & Co. The interior of each of the buildings was burned out.

The fire started in the engine room of the Peats building and raged for three hours. Street car lines throughout the downtown district and the elevated lines were tied up and theatregoers were delayed, many of them more than an hour, in reaching the playhouses. The work of the firemen was witnessed by at least 75,000 persons, who, attracted by the glare which could be seen for miles, thronged the streets in spite of the cold.

Army of Caribou on the March.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 29.—The largest herd of caribou ever seen in Alaska is crossing the Yukon river working its way southward to escape the frigid cold of the Arctic region. The herd has been moving for 10) days and there seems to be no end to the string. It is estimated that more than 100,000 caribou have crossed the stream and wended their way into the mountains of the lower Yukon territory. The head of the column seems to be near Sixty Mile creek, the herd apparently coming from the Tanana valley. It is believed that the winter is unusually severe, which has had the effect of driving the animals further south.

To Urge Tariff Revision.

Chicago, Jan. 29.—One of the most influential and representative industrial committees, organized in recent years will assemble Feb. 3 in Washington to urge tariff revision without the interference of politics.

Kittanning, Pa., Jan. 29.—The strike of the brewery workers here has been settled by mutual concessions.

WITHOUT AN ANCHOR.

Lieutenant Lahm and Two Companions Sail Away in Balloon Ohio.

Canton, O., Jan. 29.—At this writing no further report has been received in Canton from the balloon Ohio, with Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm, U. S. A., pilot, and John G. Obermeier, a manufacturer, and Herbert W. Alden, mechanical engineer, members of the Aero club of Canton passengers. The balloon, after a start which threatened danger, sailed away at 1:12 p. m., in the direction of Youngstown, whence at 2:10 p. m. word came that it had been sighted.

Before the start and when the balloon was about two-thirds inflated it was noticed the valve rope had not been untied. Lahm, with Oliver Stuberley, Herbert W. Alder and Albert Schoenberg, crawled under the folds and undertook to loosen the rope by a hook. A misunderstanding of an order to assistants caused them to pull the balloon and open the valve. The men were caught in a gas pocket. All managed to stagger out save Lahm, who had to be dragged out. He revived in a short time.

A second mishap came when in taking the start the balloon struck a building, bounded to another back and forth and finally was held fast by the anchor rope catching a telephone pole. A lineman climbed up and cut the balloon loose, but in doing so the anchor of the balloon was left behind. The three men in the car after their escape from what seemed to the spectators serious injuries or probable death waved a farewell to the large crowd. The balloon shot up to an altitude of about 1,000 feet and soon passed out of sight to the northeast.

ENGLAND SAYS NO ALUM IN FOOD

and strictly prohibits the sale of alum baking powder:—
So does France
So does Germany

The sale of alum foods has been made illegal in Washington and the District of Columbia, and alum baking powders are everywhere recognized as injurious.

To protect yourself against alum, when ordering baking powder,

Say plainly—
ROYAL BAKING POWDER

and be very sure you get Royal.

Royal is the only Baking Powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar. It adds to the digestibility and wholesomeness of the food.

THE most efficient typewriter is the Smith Premier. The most efficent Smith Premier is

The New Tri-Chrome Smith Premier Typewriter

which combines with all the good points of its previous models the ability to write in three colors from one ribbon. By a touch of a small lever this new model produces

Purple typewriting that will copy
Black typewriting that will not fade or offset
Red typewriting for emphasis or display

In every modern business house a definite need is present for each of these kinds of writing. The new Tri-Chrome Smith Premier is the only typewriter offering them.
